Copper, copper-base alloys, Stainless steel, and clad products manufactured by Heyco Metals in strip and sheet form do not require registration under REACH requirements because these products are classified as "Articles".

Notification is not required since SVHC (substances of very high concern) are not present in our articles.

The reroll products we purchase from our vendors have been similarly classified as "Articles".

We do review the lists published by the European Chemical Agency (ECHA), including changes through 1/28/2022, when requested to do so and can state that we do not use any of the substances there detailed in the manufacture of our "Articles".

This declaration does not apply to processes performed on our materials by others.
